Thomas Cleveland Davis, 14, of Black Springs, Ark., was killed Sunday afternoon while walking along Arkansas 8. State Police said the youth was struck by a tractor-trailer driven by Clovis Stewart, 32, of Hot Springs.

State Police said Stewart honked the horn on the vehicle and the youth ran in front of the truck. The accident occurred about 13 miles west of Black Springs.

Terry Allen Smith, 20, an airman at Little Rock Air Force Base, was killed early Saturday when a car struck his motorcycle on Interstate 40 about one mile east of Little Rock.

BLUE CROSS

REPORT TO MEMBERS

BLUE SHIELD

Continuing the trend of recent months, Arkansas Blue Cross and Blue Shield is paying over a million dollars a month for hospital-surgical-medical care of its members in our state. In January, members received $1,130,361 in benefits. The biggest sum paid for a single member was $5,200.44. How many months would this pay your membership dues? Again during February, payments amounted to $1,051,442. The biggest single case during this month was $2,057.84—another bill to stagger any family's budget.

An Arkansas family can expect to have someone in the hospital every two years. What about the bill? The daily hospital charge for room, board and general nursing care accounts for less than half of the average hospital bill. The second-largest item in the typical hospital bill is drugs and medicines. Hospital charges for drugs and medicines (except blood and plasma) are PAID IN FULL by your Blue Cross-Blue Shield membership.

MEET THE PEOPLE WHO CARE FOR YOU:

Herchel T. Gardner is Vice President of Arkansas Blue Cross & Blue Shield. In charge of internal operations of the Company, he is responsible for member services, claims handling, data processing, accounting and statistical services. He also administers employee programs for the 200 Blue Cross-Blue Shield employees. A native of Delight, Ark., he began his career with Arkansas Blue Cross & Blue Shield seventeen years ago. Married and the father of three, he is a member of the Board of Stewards of Pulaski Heights Methodist Church, the Kiwanis Club Board of Directors and Chairman of the Mail Users Council.

At the annual Board of Trustees meeting last month, Blue Cross-Blue Shield president Sam M. Butler revealed figures showing that only 6.4% of members' dues was used to operate the company during 1966. This operating cost figure is the lowest in the history of Blue Cross-Blue Shield in Arkansas. The remaining 93.6% of income goes to provide member benefits and reserves.

HELEN HELP US!

by Helen Bittel

OPEN SEASON ON DIVORCEE WAITRESS

Dear Helen: I am 34, divorced, a waitress, but NOT a tramp, as most men assume this combination is. I get asked out many times, but I can always see in the back of these wolves' minds what they really want, so I refuse. The few times I accepted I was proved right. So now I sit home and end up crying myself to sleep because I get so lonely. Am I at the age where all men are either too young, too old, too forward, or married (and they're the most forward of all)? --BITTER

Dear Bitter: Don't judge all men by a few, and don't jump to conclusions about what you "see in the back of their minds." But also, don't date the customers. Join a "singles" club—your library lists all clubs and local addresses) let your married friends be matchmakers; go to church (you won't find many single men there, but you'll make contacts with nice people; enroll in night school.

And don't give up. Other divorcees have managed to live lives that are not lonely or promiscuous. So can you!—H.

Note to other divorcees: Will a few of you who HAVE come through and carved good lives for yourselves please come through with letters telling your sad sisters how you did it? They need your help!—H.

Dear Helen: I'm 35 a single male. Have been going with a girl of 28 who has three children, and a pretty good job. We have the same tastes, same moral standards, love children, and her children love me. We get along fine in most respects, and we're very fond of each other.

The only thing that bothers me is that she is a sloppy housekeeper. She keeps her kids neat and clean, but her house is not just disorganized it's dirty. I'm not a fanatic, but I couldn't stand a home that isn't reasonably clean and picked - up. I'd probably blow my top after we're married, and that might blow the marriage.

She must have been brought up this way because it doesn't seem to bother her. I do love her and the kids, and I wouldn't want to hurt her. Have always been able to solve my problems, but this one has me beat.—MAURY

"We Won't Forget the Part the Land Bank Played!"

1917... There was a war on. Dad was too old to go. I was too young. Congress passed a law creating the Federal Land Banks to help farmers pay for their land.

1918... Dad bought 80 acres with the help of a Federal Land Bank loan, obtained through the local Land Bank Association.

1922... Hazel and I got married. Eighty acres wasn't enough to support two families, so Dad and I went to the local Land Bank man again—we got another loan and bought another 80 acres.

1933... The great depression—business in a turmoil. We were managing somehow and were raising a fine family—Tom, our oldest, and our two girls. Through our local Land Bank Association we arranged to refinance our loan to cut the payments down.

1936... Drought and crop failure—with the outlook pretty dreary. The Land Bank permitted us to pay only the interest due and defer the principal portion of our loan installment.

1955... That original 80 acres had turned into 240, not counting Tom's place purchased with the help of a Land Bank loan. We were farming with chemicals...to fertilize the land, to kill bugs, to control weeds.

1961... Bought a new house. Modern farming takes a lot of machinery and a lot of money. Over the years the Land Bank has provided the money—to keep abreast of the newest developments.

1967... Hazel and I have had a good life—we raised a fine family—we have six wonderful grandchildren—and we own a good farm. The Federal Land Bank and the local Land Bank Association certainly played an important part in our success.

Porkers to Start Spring Workouts

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — University of Arkansas football coach Frank Broyles says his spring practice starting April 6 will be the most important one conducted in the last ten years.

The Porkers were hit hard by graduation with only 19 lettermen planning to turn out for the month-long practice. Two of those 19 are kicking specialists and one is from the 1965 season.

The offensive unit is expected to include only two 1966 starters, tackle Ernest Ruple and tailback David Dickey. The defense will have six players who saw starting duties last season. Tentative defensive starters will be end Harford Hamilton, middle guard David Cooper, tackle Terry Don Phillips, line-backer Alvin Jones and half-backs Gary Adams and Tommy Trantham.

"We've come to the end of the line after 1966 as far as depth was concerned," Broyles said. "Now we've got to start all over. It's the biggest challenge an Arkansas squad has faced."

"Except for 1958 — my first season — I don't know when we've seen more new faces," he added.

The Razorbacks' spring drills are scheduled to end with a scrimmage game at Fayetteville May 5. The official Red-White game is scheduled for April 29 in Little Rock.

Archer Is Winner at Greensboro

By KEN ALYTA
Associated Press Sports Writer
GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — "How would you like to be leading this tournament and learn you had to play your last round paired with Arnold Palmer and Doug Sanders?"

That's what one gallery member asked his buddy Sunday before the last round of the Great Greensboro Open Golf Tournament in which George Archer found himself playing with Palmer and Sanders.

"I'd probably blow up," was the reply.

Well, Archer didn't blow up. He maintained his poise and the lead by shooting a 68 over the par 71 Sedgewood Country Club course.

It gave him a 72-hole total of 267, 17 under par and two shots better than the old record, for first prize money of $25,000 in the $125,000 event.

It also earned for him an invitation to the Masters Tournament opening Thursday at Augusta, Ga.

Archer, a 27-year-old fourth-year pro whose only previous pro tour victory was the Lucky International at San Francisco, his home town, two years ago, was two shots ahead of Sanders, a 64 finisher for a 269 worth $15,000.

Palmer shot a 66 for third at 271, good for $9,375 to make him the first to go over $80,000 in official winnings. He also took over this year's money lead at better than $54,000.

Archer three-putted the first hole, for his only bogey, and had to make two late birdies to reach the turn in 35, one under, to retain a two-shot lead over the charging Sanders and Palmer, two of the finest and most popular golfers on the tour.

They both turned in 31 and the pressure was on the leader.

But Archer picked up two back nine birdies to withstand a third-birdie finish by Sanders, the defending champion. Palmer finished erratically, with three birdies, three pars and three bogeys.

The day produced a tournament record 33-30 — 63 by John Schlee, Phoenix, Ariz., pro in his second year on the tour. He finished tied for eighth at 277 to win $3,687.50.

Dave Stockton, tied with Archer for the 54-hole lead, drove into the woods for a first-hole double bogey. He never regained his earlier form and finished with 74 for 273 and fourth place worth $6,250.

Charlie Sifford's 68 for 274 meant fifth place and $5,375.

Joe Nuxhall Has Quit as Player

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Pitcher Joe Nuxhall has hung up his spikes and glove for good to become a broadcaster of Cincinnati Reds baseball games.

The veteran southpaw retired from baseball Saturday with a record that sets him apart from thousands of other players: the youngest ever to participate in a major league game.

Nuxhall, now almost 39, was only 15 years old when he went to the mound for the Reds on June 10, 1944, to pitch against the St. Louis Cardinals, who were leading 13-0.

He lasted only two-thirds of an inning. He faced nine batters and gave up five runs on two hits and five bases on balls.

Nuxhall spent all but one of his 15 years in the majors with the Reds. He was with Kansas City in 1961 and also was with the Los Angeles Angels briefly in 1962. The Reds got him back later that year.

His lifetime record was 135 victories against 117 defeats.

Trade Results in Another Red Minus

By MIKE RECHT

Associated Press Sports Writer
The much publicized and criticized Frank Robinson and Bill White trades resulted in another minus for the Cincinnati Reds and St. Louis Cardinals after a weekend of adding and subtracting.

The Reds crossed the name of relief pitcher Jack Baldschun off their roster Sunday, another unkindly cut against the deal that sent Robinson to Baltimore before last season and brought Baldschun, Milt Pappas and Dick Simpson to the Reds.

Robinson, of course, went on to win the Most Valuable Player award in the American League while the Cincinnati trio failed to distinguish themselves.

The Cardinals gave up on pitcher Art Mahaffey a day earlier when they sent him to the New York Mets with Jerry Buchek and infielder Tony Martinez for infielder Ed Bressoud, outfielder Danny Napoleon and cash.

Mahaffey, once a 20-game winner with Philadelphia, came to the Cardinals with Alex Johnson and Pat Corrales for White, Dick Groat and Bob Ucker.

The Reds put a former major league pitcher label on several others as they sent Jim Duffalo, Dick Stigman, Roland Sheldon and Dom Zanni shuffling off to their Buffalo farm club.

Joe Nuxhall, the youngest player ever to appear in a major league game at 15, left of his own accord, retiring at the age of 39 to become a sportscaster.

Kansas City bundled up pitchers Diego Segui, Jim Dickson and Dick Joyce and catcher Rene Lachemann and sent them to Vancouver.

The Mets played the good guys, welcoming Ralph Terry, another former 20-game winner, to their roster after a good performance Saturday. But they dropped pitchers Tug McGraw and Rob Gardner and catcher Johnny Stephenson.

Sammy Ellis, Curt Simmons and Juan Pizarro joined Terry with good shows Sunday as they tried to erase lackluster seasons in 1966, but Camilo Pascual's comeback took a turn for the worse.

Ellis, a 19-game loser last season, allowed two hits in five innings and combined with 18-year-old rookie Gary Nolan for a five-hitter that beat Philadelphia 2-0 at Tampa, Fla., as the spring training season moved into its final week.

Simmons allowed one run and three hits in seven innings as the Chicago Cubs dropped California 3-2 in Palm Springs, Calif.

Pizarro, bothered by arm trouble last year, limited the New York Yankees to three runs in seven innings and his Pittsburgh teammates clobbered the Yankees 9-3 at San Juan, P.R. Donn Clendenon hit two homers as he and Gene Al-

Texas Relays Prove Best of Them All

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The Texas Relays already led the Big Four relay meets of the country in comparative records, and three more were added over the weekend to give the big track and field carnival here one more mark than the other three put together.

Randy Matson, Texas A&M's great weightman, scored a double and one of them — the discus, where Matson set an intercollegiate record of 201 feet, 1 inch — was one of the three picked up.

The others were Kansas, world record in the sprint medley when the Jayhawks, spearheaded by the fabulous Jim Ryan, romped to 3:15.2, and the pole vault where Fred Burton of Wichita State soared 16 feet, 9½ inches. This is the highest vault ever in any of the four meets.

The Texas Relays lead in records with nine and one tie; the Kansas Relays, which go on April 21-22, have five and a tie, while the Drake Relays lead in two and the Penn Relays in one.

Kansas, Drake and Penn still are to be held this year and there could be a change in the standings.

Al Kaline capped a four-run seventh inning with a two-run double and Detroit trimmed the Chicago White Sox 7-5 at Sarasota, Fla.

Long Way From Defeat in Derby

By MIKE BARRON

Associated Press Sports Writer
ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Cale Yarborough has come a long way from defeat in the Soap Box Derby to victory in the Atlanta 500.

The 27-year-old Yarborough, who led nearly all the way in winning his first major stock car race Sunday, says he started racing at the age of 11 in the Soap Box Derby at Darlington, S.C.

"I lost," he said.
He didn't lose Sunday. The pole-sitter from Charlotte, N.C., withstood brief challenges by Richard Petty of Randleman, N.C., and Mario Andretti of Nazareth, Pa., and led for 302 of the 334 laps at the 1½-mile, high-banked Atlanta International Raceway. He had no serious challenge for the last 137 laps.

"That Fairlane was really running good," he said of his 1967 Ford. "Nobody out there could run with it."

"I found out they couldn't even draft me and then I knew they had their work out for them," he said of the 44-car field. Only 17 cars finished the race.

Drafting is driving close behind a car, allowing the first car to pull the second in its wake which saves gas for the second car.

Yarborough said Petty's 1967 Plymouth gave him the most competition. Petty held the lead for 17 laps before blowing his engine on the 196th lap.

Andretti, who won Saturday's 12-hour endurance race in Sebring, Fla., and then rushed back to Atlanta for the 500, also led briefly.

Celtics Two Down in Pro Playoff

By LARRY ELDRIDGE
Associated Press Sports Writer
BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Celtics' eight-year reign as National Basketball Association champions teetered on the brink today, and one member of the Philadelphia 76ers was already reading the obituary notice.

"It's all over... I think so, I really do," said Hal Greer after the 76ers won a 107-102 nationally televised thriller Sunday at Boston Garden to take a commanding 2-0 lead in the best-of-7 Eastern Division final playoffs.

"We're not going to let up just because we're two up," the veteran backcourt star added. "We're going to beat down even harder than ever."

The Celtics weren't quite ready for the funeral yet, and even the other 76ers were a bit more cautious. But both sides agreed that the way Philadelphia beat Boston at its own game was significant.

"We ran, we got the ball up the floor, we played good defense," said 76ers Coach Alex Hannum. "We did what Boston usually does."

The 76ers used another Celtics standby — a new hero for each crucial spot — but once again it was 7-foot-1 Wilt Chamberlain who dominated over-all action with 15 points, 29 rebounds, five assists and five blocked shots.

"We'll show up for the third game in Philadelphia Wednesday night," Player-Coach Bill Russell said. "We wouldn't show up if we didn't think we had a chance."

Chet Walker's 23 points led the balanced 76ers attack. Wally Jones had 22, Greer 17, Luke Jackson 15 and Bill Cunningham 13.

John Havlicek had 26 and Bailey Howell 22 for Boston. In the only other playoff game over the weekend, San Francisco took a 2-0 lead over St. Louis in the Western Division finals with a 143-136 triumph in San Francisco Saturday night.

The third and fourth games of the series will be played in St. Louis on Wednesday and Saturday.

Walker and Haskins Are Big Targets

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — All-Americans Jim Walker and Clem Haskins loom as the big targets in the approaching professional basketball battle.

The new American Basketball Association, also left no doubt Sunday that there will be attempts to lure established pros.

In its organizational meeting, the ABA drafted 130 college players, with Walker, the leading major college scorer from Providence, picked by Indianapolis, a team to be known in the future as Indiana.

Louisville went for Western Kentucky's Haskins plus his teammate Dwight Smith and Kentucky's Louis Dampier in a preference for home-state talent.

Now the ABA clubs must try to sign their draftees.

As ammunition to help lure the college crop and also to seek the established pros from the National Basketball Association, the new league established a pension plan and said service in the other league would count in longevity.

The ABA did not divulge the order of its selections, a move to discourage comparisons of signings of early-round choices in the two leagues.

There were surprises and some foul-ups during the day-long meeting. New Orleans went through early rounds normally and then named Bob Seagren the indoor pole vault record holder.

"This is hilarious. It's impossible," declared Seagren in Los Angeles. "I haven't touched a basketball in five years."

Sean Morton Downey Jr., of the New Orleans club said Seagren, of the University of Southern California, was drafted "because he is a great athlete, and we think he can play basketball."

Legislature Was More Closely Watched by People of Arkansas

By ROBERT L. SHAW
Associated Press Writer
LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The 66th General Assembly operated under more public scrutiny than probably accorded any other Arkansas legislature. Not since Reconstruction had an Arkansas legislature had to work with a Republican governor. Attention was focused on whether the Democratic 66th could work with the Republican Interloper, Winthrop Rockefeller.

Rockefeller had said during his campaign against Democrat Jim Johnson last fall that he believed a Republican chief executive and a Democratic-controlled legislature could work together.

In his inaugural address, he asked the legislators to put aside partisan politics and toil for the good of the state. "I ask you to join me in pledging to work—as no men have—so that Arkansas may enter into a new Era of Excellence to launch a far-reaching quest for quality in which we shall no longer be content merely to exist in our potential or measure our progress in comparison with our past," Rockefeller said.

Said Rockefeller, "We come here committed not to discord, but to doing... not to destroying, but to discovering... not to dividing, but dissolving old problems with new solutions." The problem was not so easy for the Democrats. Although they controlled the legislature, they were the "out" party. Traditionally, the "outs" become the "ins" by attacking the other party's program and advancing one of their own.

Rockefeller, however, operated with public opinion on his side. And the Democrats lacked the legislative leadership that had always emanated from a Democratic governor.

The Democrats agreed to cooperate with the Republican by judging his legislation on its individual merits, they said. During a large part of the session, however, any cooperation that existed between the assembly and the governor—and there was some—was overshadowed by controversy that had an abrasive effect on their relations.

Rockefeller had his first problem on his hands before he became governor. On the first day of the session and one day before he was to take his oath, the Senate confirmed 93 appointments by outgoing Gov. Orval Faubus. In doing so, the Senate rejected Rockefeller's plea that he be given the same courtesy as other incoming governors—that he be allowed to review the appointments first.

"Patronage" and appointments precipitated the governor's woes with the Senate, in which Rockefeller said a small group was trying to dismantle the executive.

Criticism of the governor was more subdued in the House, but some representatives joined their Senate colleagues in charging that cooperation seemed to be a one-way street with Rockefeller.

Sen. Guy Jones of Conway, Rockefeller's most persistent critic, sponsored two bills that were considered anti-administration—one requiring Senate confirmation of all gubernatorial appointments and another extending the merit system, but freezing in their patronage jobs state employees who were dismissed when Rockefeller became governor.

The legislature overrode Rockefeller's veto of the confirmation bill and the House refused to pass Jones' merit system measure.

The governor also suffered a "credibility gap" with the legislature, largely because of his veto of two bills—the Hot Springs gambling measure and the bill eliminating the tolls on the Mississippi River bridge at Helena.

Reappraisal of Derby Eligibles

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer
An agonizing reappraisal of Kentucky Derby eligibles was under way today in the wake of the surprising out-of-the-money finish of Reflected Glory in the Florida Derby.

Reflected Glory, who had replaced Successor as the winter book Kentucky Derby favorite after his smashing come-from-behind victory in the Flamingo at Hialeah, finished seventh in Reality in the Florida Derby at Gulfstream Park last Saturday.

What happened? Reflected Glory had beaten in Reality by 3½ lengths in the Flamingo. This time the Hirsch Jacobs-trained colt didn't make up any ground on in Reality, who took the $99,400 first money by 2½ lengths over Biller.

"He kept trying," said Jorge Velasquez, the jockey on Reflected Glory. "But he didn't seem able to handle the track as well as he did at Hialeah."

Some people pointed to the slower pace as hampering a come-from-behind colt like Reflected Glory.

In Reality blazed the first six furlongs of the Flamingo in 1:03 4-5 and couldn't hold off the stretch burst of Reflected Glory who did the 1½ miles in 1:46 3-8. Saturday the time for the first six furlongs was 1:12 with in Reality doing the 1½ in 1:50 1-5. The track was listed as fast.

Earlie Fires, who rode in Reality for owner Mrs. Frances A. Geneter of Minneapolis, said his saddle slipped a little on the last turn, "but I wasn't worried. He ran a game race."

The defeat of Reflected Glory probably will move Damascus, winner of the recent Bay Shore at Aqueduct for Mrs. Edith Bancroft, into the favorite spot for the Kentucky Derby at Churchill Downs next month. Famed jockey Willie Shoemaker has picked the son of Sword Dancer as "my Derby horse if trainer Frank Whiteley likes me."

In Reality moved up in the Derby picture, of course, along with Disciplinarian who beat Solo Landing by three lengths in 1:10 4-5 in the six furlong Pimlico Stakes at Baltimore. Still to be heard from is Dr. Fager, who is expected to make his first 1967 start in the Gotham at Aqueduct next week.

The $50,000 Arkansas Derby at Oaklawn Park on Saturday and the California Derby at Golden Gate Fields next week will help clarify the Kentucky Derby picture even more.

But the NHL has taken a dim view of the rerun, declaring the scorer's original decision will stand up.

The phantom assist came on a third-period goal by Doug Mohns. It was Mohns' 25th goal of the season, and the assists were credited to Ken Wharram and Ed Van Impe.

When the goal was announced, Mohns skated over to the referee to correct the assists. But no change was made. Then, after the game, Mikita spoke to the official scorer.

"I told him I had deflected the puck behind the net and that I was the last one to touch it before Mohns," Mikita explained. "He said that he and his assistant both had seen the goal develop the same way and that neither thought I had an assist coming."

Playoff in Hockey Loop This Week

By HAL BOCK

It will be the Chicago Black Hawks against the Toronto Maple Leafs and the New York Rangers against the Montreal Canadiens in the National Hockey League's Stanley Cup playoff semifinal round beginning in Chicago and Montreal Thursday.

Today, it was Stan Mikita against a video tape replay—in a battle the Chicago playmaking wizard appeared to have little chance of winning.

Mikita, the slick center on the Black Hawks' Scooter line, won his third NHL scoring title with 97 points, finishing with a pair of assists in Sunday's 8-0 romp over New York. That tied the NHL record for points set by teammate Bobby Hull last year.

In Sunday's other windup games, Montreal wrapped up second place with a 4-2 victory over Detroit and Toronto finished third, whipping Boston 5-2.

Mikita was sure he broke Hull's record with an assist that doesn't show in the scoring summaries. Official scorer Lamie Crovat was to take another look at the play in question via video tape today in New York. But the NHL has taken a dim view of the rerun, declaring the scorer's original decision will stand up.

Pull Up a Snake and Sit Down

Make yourself comfortable on the sheep there, friend, while I look through the rhinoceros for those papers. May my radio-controlled turtle bring you a drink? And while you're waiting, maybe you'd like to use the horsefly—first door to your left down the hall. Such might be the conversation in a home equipped with furniture by Parisian designer Francois-Xavier Lalanne, who utilizes animal figures in a sort of barnyard-jungle decor.

AMONG THE ITEMS in the Lalanne collection are the sheep, upper left, usable as separate stools or a sofa when bunched together, and the huge rhinoceros desk at upper right. A flap in the rhino's middle opens up for the desk top and ears and cheeks include various storage areas. A coiled box constrictor, comprises a chair, and the final objet d'art is the giant horsefly, lower right, doubling as a toilet stool.

THE WELL CHILD® Bladder Control Natural Development, Not Forced

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

I get many letters from mothers whose children are bedwetters. One cause of this condition is too intense an effort to toilet train a child in the first three years of his life. Bladder control usually develops naturally but not until a child has learned to recognize when his bladder is full and has learned to start urinating by a conscious release of the controlling muscle or sphincter. Full control is rarely achieved before age 3, and too much stress at an earlier age with failures, frustrating to both parent and child, defeats the purpose of the training.

Another cause—too small an opening of the urinary outlet—has been treated by a minor operation. The results are said to be excellent in selected cases where this is the chief cause of the trouble but, if other causative factors are present, the operation alone will not produce a cure. Emotional tensions are often cited, especially by psychiatrists, as a cause but more often the tensions are the result of the bedwetting rather than the cause.

In a recent study one group of bedwetters was treated by restricting fluids after 5 p.m. and a similar group by forcing the drinking of fluids and voluntarily refraining from urinating for prolonged periods during the day. In a follow-up period of three to eight months the greatest improvement was observed in the forced-drinking group. This was attributed to an increase in bladder capacity as proved by measurements of urinary output.

When all else fails, an electric warning device can be placed in the bed. It sets off an alarm when a few drops of urine moisten its electrodes. For best results, the parents must make sure the child gets up promptly and empties his bladder when the alarm goes off.

Q—Our 1-year-old daughter has a low blood count and the doctor says she has Mediterranean anemia. Is there any cure for it?

A—In Mediterranean anemia (Cooley's anemia or thalassemia) the red blood cells are fewer and thinner than normal. The disease is hereditary but the details of its transmission from generation to generation have not been worked out. There is a mild form which requires no treatment and a severe form for which the only treatment is repeated transfusions. Removal of the spleen may allow a longer interval between transfusions.

Star Editor Finds Himself in Front of Camera — for a Change

— Frank Brown Photos, office of Secretary of State Kelly Bryant

There was picture-taking at Arkansas' state capital last Thursday, March 30, but The Star's editor and publisher, Alex. I. Washburn, was in them—rather than making them. The occasion was the delivery of 1,000 copies of The Star's special edition, Color Salute to the 66th General Assembly, to the lawmakers, and presentation to each chamber of a 16x20 laboratory color print for framing. Picture above shows the Senate presentation: Left to right—Secretary of State Kelly Bryant, Lt. Gov. and Senate President Footsie Britt, Washburn, and Sen. Olen Hendrix of Prescott.

This was the presentation in the House: House Speaker Sterling R. Cockrill, Jr., left, Washburn, and Rep. Talbot, Feld, Jr., of Hope.

Johnson Improves Relations

By FRANK CORMIER
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's weekend wooing of Latin diplomats in his native Texas seems to have achieved its limited goal—generating increased goodwill for the United States.

Comments from the President's guests—29 Latin-American envoys and their ladies—were enthusiastic.

"A thrill to come here," said Dr. Rodrigo Jacome, ambassador from Ecuador to the Organization of American States. He termed it a "well-organized weekend" and voiced only one regret: that he did not have more time for sightseeing and other tourist-type activities.

Mrs. Celso Pastor, wife of the ambassador from Peru and sister of that country's president, fairly bubbled as she summed up her feelings: "The most unblemished weekend I've ever had. The President tried to show us a part of his wonderful state and we're so grateful."

The ambassadors said in a statement upon their departure from Texas that Johnson's initiative in inviting them to the ranch was of "special significance" coming near the April 12-14 meeting of American chiefs of state Punta del Este, Uruguay.

They predicted the forthcoming conference would contribute to the deepening and speeding up of continental solidarity.

The ambassadors said that from the moment of their arrival to the moment of departure each had a complete sensation that their visit was like being in their own homes.

Some of the diplomats were particularly pleased because they had expected Johnson to try to sell them "a bill of goods." In his statements to them, he never even mentioned the hemisphere summit or, in any other way, put pressure on them, they said.

Stefanich Takes Top Bowling Cash

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — "I don't think I could do another job," said Jim Stefanich after he walked off with the $25,000 top prize in the $100,000 Professional Bowlers Association Tournament of Champions.

The 25-year-old bowler from Chicago needed a two-frame overtime to beat Don Johnson Saturday after they tied 227-227.

Stefanich won 49-38. Stefanich set 13 of the 18

Monday, April 3, 1967 records in the tournament and jumped to second place on this year's PBA money list with $27,975. His only other PBA victory was in Baltimore last year.

Johnson, of Kokomo, Ind., took second place money of $12,500. Jack Blondillo of Houston, finished third for $6,500, with Mike Durbin of Costa Mesa, Calif., fourth for $3,500 and Les Schissler of Denver, Colo., fifth for $2,500.

Truckers Strike Is Almost Sure

By NEIL GILBRIDE
WASHINGTON (AP)—Chances for a settlement that would head off a strike pitting the Teamsters Union against the nation's trucking industry were less than promising today.

As they returned to negotiations with industry bargainers, the Teamster leaders were armed with a vote from the members putting in their hands the decision to call a strike.

The negotiations, covering 450,000 workers in 12,000 trucking firms, by now center on money issues. The employers and the union are believed still to be far apart.

The talks recessed at 2 a.m. today and were to resume at an unscheduled hour.

A nationwide vote of Teamsters trucking locals was overwhelmingly in favor of striking if there is no settlement.

The union's announced strategy would be to strike only a few major firms, but spokesmen for 1,500 major companies represented by Trucking Employers Inc. have threatened to shut down all TEI firms if any are struck.

After the third straight night of all-night sessions, the talks reportedly were snagged over wages. The union's last reported demand was 56 cents per hour over a three-year contract. The industry's last known offer was 37 cents.

Many other issues, including increased per-mile pay for long-distance drivers, health and welfare benefits, and new equip-

Students Visit State Legislature

Visiting the 66th Session of the Arkansas Legislative Assembly were 33 civics students of Yerger High School. They arrived on the grounds of the State Capitol at approximately 12:15 a.m. at which time both houses had recessed until 1:15 p.m.

They were directed to the balcony of the house by Mrs. Talbot Field, Jr., where they sat and observed for three hours. Seeing the procedures used in the House seemed to have been a highly educational experience for all of the students.

The group was introduced to the Representatives by Hempstead County Representative Talbot Field, Jr. Before leaving the House chamber, the group heard Representative Talbot Field, Jr. speak on behalf of Bill 473 which would provide for the creation of an Assistant Governor.

Both the students and the sponsors, Miss Bessie Milus and Mrs. Ophelia Williams, were given complimentary information concerning the government of Arkansas by Secretary of State, Kelly Bryant.

Yerger High School Holds Elections

March 6, 1967 was the initial date of campaigning for students at Yerger High seeking Student Council offices. The candidates were selected from divisional homeroom classes of 8-11 grades.

The fourteen candidates carried on vigorous campaigns for two weeks. They displayed clever posters and eye-catching cartoons in the corridors, on cars and generally in every conspicuous place that could be found.

On March 21, the candidates gave amusing and convincing speeches to the entire student body.

On March 22, the primary election was held and five candidates were eliminated. In one week a run-off election will be held in which the officers will be chosen by two-thirds majority rule.

Because Charles Martin and Evelyn Walker received the highest number of votes in the primary election for President and Secretary, respectively, they and Sandra Hamilton will represent the Yerger Student Council at the Arkansas Association of Student Councils at Fordyce on April 14-15.

Mrs. Wortham said her son had some business in New York, which she said he hoped to complete today.

Tax Loopholes May Be Closed by Congress in Lieu of Increase

EDITORS NOTE — Some people in and out of Congress are urging tax reform — a general closing of loopholes — as a substitute for President Johnson's proposed 6 per cent income surtax.

Through those loopholes pours an estimated $50 billion a year. Are major tax reforms in the offing? Writer Sterling F. Green, a member of the AP's Washington special assignment team, reports on the prospects and also examines some of the major tax loopholes in the following story.

By STERLING F. GREEN
WASHINGTON (AP)—The White House has planted a go-slow sign in the way of congressional proposals to plug some of the major tax loopholes through which an estimated $50 billion of revenue escape every year.

Instead of a major loophole-closing, officials expect President Johnson to seek modest changes, mostly clinching up corporation tax rules and offsetting any revenue increases by tax relief for lower-income families.

The presidential package won't reach Congress until July or August, under present plans. They could not be enacted before 1968. And under White House orders, the revisions will not produce a gain in revenues.

"The reforms will be little and late," predicted Rep. Henry S. Reuss, D-Wis., a ranking member of the Senate-House Economic Committee.

He has urged prompt loophole-closing as a substitute for Johnson's proposed 6 per cent general surtax at midyear on most income taxes. But Reuss reported no signs of a major tax reform effort in the executive branch and added, in an interview: "Unless there is strong presidential leadership you cannot get real tax reforms out of Congress."

"Congress is where the vested interests live. The White House is where the national interest lives."

Administration aides agree that the President's promised reform package won't go to Capitol Hill until after Congress takes its action, if any, on Johnson's tax surcharge proposal.

And they concur that Johnson in effect has said "no" to the Reuss plan — and is not changing his mind. Johnson's economic report to the new Congress in January said proposals to reduce tax inequities and distortions were being prepared, but the President added: "These proposals will be designed to avoid significant revenue effects."

He is expected to ask clampdowns, of still undisclosed severity, on asserted tax abuses by private foundations, on the

MOBILE, Ala. (AP)—Avery Loper, who played the trombone with his bare foot, died Sunday before a crowd estimated by officials at "at least 2,000."

Loper, 66, was playing with a local orchestra at a municipal park concert to promote a jazz festival for young musicians when he took the horn from his lips and called out: "Is there a doctor in the crowd?"

He then collapsed and died within minutes of an apparent heart attack.

Elections Started in Vietnam

By KENNETH L. WHITTING
SAIGON (AP)—The opening round of South Vietnam's village council elections was declared a success today despite scattered Viet Cong terrorism aimed at crippling the voting.

"The Viet Cong failed completely to sabotage the elections Sunday," Vietnamese officials said.

But they reported at least four candidates were murdered, 10 were kidnapped, three policemen and four militiamen were wounded by grenades and three Viet Cong were captured.

A total of 219 villages in 33 of South Vietnam's 43 provinces went to the polls Sunday in the first local elections since 1964. Incomplete returns showed 1,299 of the 1,964 village council seats had been filled. There were 2,718 candidates.

Forty-two of the 105 woman candidates have been seated so far. The oldest candidate was 85 and several of the youngest just barely met the minimum age of 25.

Officials said 495,044 of the 614,806 eligible voters cast ballots. Additional elections will be held in secure areas of South Vietnam for the next four Sundays.

Five Sundays of voting for hamlet chiefs and deputy chiefs are scheduled to start May 14.

Cities are not included in the local elections, nor are villages or hamlets seriously menaced by the Communists.

Officials reported 123 Viet Cong-inspired incidents directed at Sunday's voting. These included 34 acts of terrorism and 89 occasions when the Communists employed "armed propaganda" to intimidate voters or candidates.

In one incident in Lam Dong village, Communist guerrillas fired five mortar rounds at the polling place but managed only to postpone the voting one hour while repairs were made.

There are no nationwide political parties in South Vietnam. Most of the candidates ran as independents, although a number had provincial links with such religious sects as the Cao Dai and Hoa Hao or with regional political factions.

The bulk of the candidates were farmers, followed by merchants and civil servants.

Vandals Hit Church Yard

SPOTSWOOD, N.J. (AP)—Vandals attacked a historic Middlesex church yard cemetery Sunday for the second time in two weeks, overturning 36 tombstones and demolishing some dating back to the Revolutionary War.

The Rev. Canon J. Perry Cox, rector of St. Peter's Episcopal Church, estimated damages at the 211-year-old cemetery would run about $10,000.

A dozen tombstones—including those of the first three pastors of the church—were demolished. Five tombstones had been overturned at St. Peter's two weeks ago.

Canon Cox said the church would replace the stones.

New Sweeps by Americans in Vietnam

By GEORGE MCARTHUR
SAIGON (AP)—U.S. military headquarters today announced two new major ground sweeps — including the biggest operation so far by Australian forces in Vietnam — aimed at steadily increasing the pressure on Communist units.

The U.S. command said 19 ground actions are currently under way seeking out Communist units from the highlands to the marshes of the Mekong Delta. But only scattered contact was reported, with 60 to 65 of the enemy killed.

The U.S. command also said the Australian guided missile cruiser Hobart, which joined allied forces off the coast last Friday, shelled a Viet Cong assembly point below Quang Tri City. It was the first offshore bombardment by an Australian ship in the Vietnamese war.

The biggest U.S. ground operation of the war, Operation Junction City in Tay Ninh Province near Cambodia, continued to run into significant numbers of Viet Cong troops in the area where a Red regiment lost at least 581 men last Friday and Saturday. A U.S. spokesman said the U.S. troops reported killing 25 to 30 Viet Cong in scattered skirmishes today.

It appeared that small Viet Cong units were still fleeing the area of the major battle, and U.S. forces were fanning out to catch them.

The Australian ground sweep in coastal Phuoc Tuy Province began March 21 but was kept under security wraps until Monday. It numbers perhaps 4,000 men, including U.S. soldiers under Australian command.

The operation, called Portsea, is aimed at clearing an area long under the control of the Viet Cong and is intended to open local roads so peasants can reach the district market without harassment.

At the same time the Australians moved out, more than 1,500 U.S. soldiers of the 101st Airborne Division's 1st Brigade swept into the coastal mountain area of Phu Yen and Khanh Hoa Provinces in Operation Summerall. It, too, was kept under security wraps until today.

Neither operation encountered significant Viet Cong forces in the initial phases, the U.S. command said.

The heaviest ground fighting today was by troops of the South Korean Tiger Division who killed 16 Viet Cong in a sharp fight in Phu Yen Province on the coast. Two Korean divisions there are trying to clear a large area of the central coast and reopen the main north-south highway.

Also on the coast, soldiers of the U.S. 1st Cavalry, Airmobile Division killed 19 Viet Cong in Binh Dinh Province Sunday, while six of the Americans were killed and 20 were wounded.

All of the coastal operations are aimed partly at driving Viet Cong units back into the jungles and mountains where they cannot live off the country and where air power can blast them at base camps.

U.S. B52 bombers from Guam made three such raids in South Vietnam Sunday night and today, all against jungle areas where air and ground intelligence had spotted Communist bivouacs. One of the raids today struck at an enemy base camp only 25 miles east of Saigon.

Principles of Rotary Discussed

They discussed the obligation involved in an important business transaction, and there was good participation involved in the case study program. Presiding over the business meeting was President Paul Klipsch. Besides the club members there was one guest, Randall Leister, a new resident of Hope who has moved here from Camden.
